

COSMETIC AND RECONSTRUCTIVE SURGERY

BY ANDREA KURTZ

OTHER PROCEDURES

Abdomens are not the only areas that are getting tightened these days. According to Connecticut-based gynecologist Dr. Edward Jacobson, "Laser vaginal rejuvenation therapy enhances vaginal muscle tone, strength and control, as well as reduces the internal and external diameter of the vagina. It's a serious procedure designed to enhance physical sexual gratification."

He also performs "designer laser vaginoplasty," operating on the internal and external vaginal labia, mons pubis, perineum, introitus and hymen. Patients bothered aesthetically or physically by labia which are overly large, asymmetrical or that make intercourse painful often seek this procedure. A downside of the operation, in rare cases, can be increased sexual dysfunction. Some general physicians are leery about recommending these procedures. Dr. Jacobson emphasizes that most doctors don't understand how the conditions he treats impact on women's self-esteem and quality of life.

Continued on page 20

CONNECTICUT:

Edward Jacobson, M.D. FACOG

Laser Vaginal Rejuvenation Institute
One Perryridge Road
Greenwich, CT 06830
203-329-1200 • 888-248-3003
www.lvrdoc.com

- Board-certified in obstetrics and gynecology
- An Associate of the Laser Rejuvenation Institute of Los Angeles
- Performs laser vaginal rejuvenation and designer laser vaginoplasty
- Surgeries performed at Fairfield County Surgical Center, Norwalk and Greenwich Hospital

Unique Features:

- Clinical Instructor, Cornell University Medical College
- Trained by Dr. Matlock, Founder of Laser Vaginal Rejuvenation Institute of Los Angeles